

I am a subscriber of XM Radio and love the service. As a salesman always on the road, I have come to rely on XM's traffic and weather to avoid trouble and get to my appointments without delay. Why would the FCC want to limit the options the american consumer should have. This is a truly great service. Please don't put limits on american ingenuity.